Liability and Responsibility

- We assume no responsibility and guarantee for the marketability of the product in the target country.
- The customer bears sole responsibility for the marketability of the product regarding individual ingredients and/or their concentration, dosage, and labeling.
- We recommend each customer to have the marketability, labeling, and advertising of the product reviewed by an expert or lawyer.
- Upon request, legal assessment of marketability can be commissioned on behalf of the customer. The costs for this shall be borne by the customer.

Product Specification Disclaimer

The information in this product specification does not constitute legally binding statements but merely recommendations. These have been prepared to the best of our knowledge and belief and correspond to our current state of knowledge. No liability, particularly for the correct labeling and claims of the product, can be derived from this.

Product Stability

- Responsibility for product stability during the suggested shelf life can only be assumed with correct storage.
- The suggested best-before date (BBD) is based on experience values; therefore, it is recommended – especially for new products – to have a stability study conducted on the specific formulation.
- Such an examination will only be carried out at your express request and at your expense.
- In case of complaints or similar issues, the manufacturer's retention samples will be used for evaluation.

Information Verification

We confirm the truthful adoption of the original manufacturer information in these provided product specifications. The results have not been verified by us. Therefore, the user of the goods is obligated to carry out their own controls upon receipt of the goods.
